A Colony of Criminals.

St Louis Republican.

Russell McCoy, a descendant of one of the mutineers of the ship Bounty, who settled in Pitcairn Island in 1790, recently arrived at San Francisco. He is 40 years of age, and a grandson of Daniel McCoy, one of the mutineer settlers. It might be supposed that a colony of criminals would not be a very promising beginning for a new state in mid-ocean, and yet the Pitcairn community is a most exemplary one. The chief officer is a magistrate, whose office is almost a sinecure on account of the absence of crime. The inhabitants are so moral in their habits and so orderly in their intercourse that there is little occasion for putting the law in force. No liquor is allowed on the island.—There is one Protestant Episcopal church, and a school connected with it in which the children are educated. The number of persons on the island now is 96, and on Norfolk island there is a population of 700, the product of a large emigration from Pitcairn in 1856 About one half the land on the island is cultivated, and the crops of grain, vegetables and semi-tropical fruits, together with the poultry and grapes raised by the islanders, supply them with an abundance of wholesome food. They have no horses nor cattle. The inhabitants are simple in their tastes, correct in their relations, industrious, frugal and religious Their chief recreation is singing. They observe Sunday with great strictness, and never indulge in gaming, card playing or dancing. Vessels in distress sometimes drift on their shores, and the crews are invariably treated with hospitality and kindness.

"You Sweet Thing"

San Francisco Chronicle

The other evening a curbstone broker named Fuller, while standing in the door of a livery stable on Sixth street, addressed a strange young lady as "You sweet thing." The sweet thing turned on her heel quick as a flash and struck the insolent fellow such a blow with her parasol that she sent his cigar flying out of his mouth. A second crash with the sunshade knocked the conceit so completely out of the curbstone fiend that he yelled for mercy, and dashed away toward one of the horse stalls for protection. The enraged young lady followed the cowardly and demoralized speculator and banged him at every bound, until, in desperation, he threw himself on the floor and almost kicked the plaster off the ceiling in his efforts to ward off the blows. After beating the fellow until she was tired, the "sweet thing" folded the shreds of her parasol round its bent and battered ribs and walked away, followed by the prayers and admiring glances of everyone who had witnessed the affair.

The undersigned hereby gives notice that he will make application to the city council of Decatur at its next regular meeting, November 7th, 1881, for a license to retail spirituous liquors in the room immediately north of the office of the New Deming Hotel, situated on Lot 14, in Block 3, Old Town of Decatur, in a building owned by J W. Decatur, Ill., Oct. 21, '81. G A. KELLER.

The Daily Republican.

DECATUR, ILLINOIS.

THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 27, 1881.

JUDGE PORTER, of New York, the eminent criminal lawyer, has consented to assist Col. Corkhill in the prosecution of Guiteau.

THE Mississippi river continued to rise yesterday at Keokuk and Quincy, and reached a point one foot above that of the great flood of last spring, which did so much damage. Many of the smaller towns along the river are completely submerged, and much distress has been occasioned.

THE Minnesota legislature, on Tuesday, balloted for United States senator, Hon. William Windom receiving 115 votes out of a total of 138. In the senate he received 29 out of 38 votes, and in the house 86 out of 100. All the Republican members except three voted for Mr. Windom. The Democratic vote was cast for James Smith.

THE white house was built at a cost of $330,000 in 1792. The portieos were not finished until 1827. The building, rebuilding and furnishing are said to have cost $1,700,000. The park and garden surrounding the mansion comprise 21 acres. The house is modelled after the palace of the duke of Leinster.

GUITEAU'S trial has been postponed until Nov. 14th—one week later than the day that was first set. The postponement was made upon application of Mr. Scoville, who desired more time to get ready, and in his argument before Judge Cox intimated that he would not raise any question as to the jurisdiction of the court.

BOSTON is still endeavoring to get up a "boom" in favor of a world's fair in that city in 1883. At a meeting Tuesday evening President Choate, of the Old Colony railroad, promised $500,000 from the steam railroads terminating in Boston, and the New England Furniture Exchange agreed to take $50,000 worth of stock. Gen. Francis L. Walker sent a letter accepting the presidency, provided it be offered him.

THE fact should be noted in italics that President Arthur has nominated as consul at Hamburg ex-Congressman John H. Bailey, of New York, a violent and bitter opponent of ex-Senator Conkling. Bailey was appointed to this consulate by President Garfield during the recess of congress, but, in order to carry out the wishes of his predecessor, General Arthur has bestowed an honor upon a man for whom he has neither personal nor political regard.

IMMIGRATION will sustain the promise of the early months of the year. In one day last week 4,000 strangers landed in New York, and the arrivals at all ports in the United States in September aggregated nearly 50,000. In the three months which ended with September the number was about 172,000, being an increase of 17,000 over the same period last year. Germany heads the list, as she has for some time. England is second, and then comes Canada, ahead even of Ireland. There are no signs of an ebbing of the tide.

MR. DALRYMPLE, whose farm at Fargo, Dakota territory, is forty five miles wide, and on which he has this year raised 600,000 bushels of wheat, is divided into five divisions of 6,000 acres. Each of these is again divided into battalions, with a foreman or major, who has charge of 2,000 acres. Under him are three companies, each having a captain and cultivating a section, which is 640 acres of land. Each superintendent plants his crop and harvests it, reporting from time to time to Mr. Dalrymple, who directs and oversees the whole, but spends the greater part of his time at the office, planning and calculating for the best results from the smallest outlay.

BOOKWALTER'S campaign in Ohio is said by those who should know to have cost him $100,000. Considering the size of the office for which he was running, the gentleman paid very liberally for his amusement.

SENATOR MILLER, of New York, says, "I am no half breed and never was; I am in full sympathy with the Republican party, and my relations with the President are most cordial." That's the way he should talk, and why should it not be so?

MISS NILSSON'S contract with Manager Henry E. Abbey is for the season of 1882-3, and binds the prima donna to sing at 100 concerts, beginning in October, 1882. The terms are $100,000, with a half share in all houses over and above $3,000, and with lodging, board and traveling expenses for herself, her husband, agent and two servants.

FROM MAINE.

TOPSHAM, ME., Oct. 22, 1881.

MESSRS. EDITORS REPUBLICAN—Dear Sirs: The one thing which I most regret during my absence from home is, that I did not request your most valuable paper to be sent me here. And, in thinking of this, it has occurred to me that a little sketch of my journey to Maine may be of interest to you.

I left Decatur on Wednesday, Oct. 12, on the noon train, arriving in Chicago in the evening; from Chicago took the Grand Trunk route, reaching Port Huron the next morning, from which place our train was conveyed across the lower part of Lake Huron by means of a ferryboat; at the same time we were crossing we met a boat containing fourteen loaded freight cars. Our train arrived in Montreal Friday morning, three hours late, delaying us six hours and a half, and thus giving us a little opportunity for sight seeing. Friday evening, took the Vermont Central railroad for Boston, just in time to get a view of the Queen's bridge, before dark. Saturday morning our first point of interest was Lowell, Mass., from which place to Boston, (a ride of about three hours), the route seemed almost one continual city. From Boston bought a ticket to Brunswick, Me., which is situated on the south side of the Androscoggin river, while Topsham, situated on the opposite side of the river, was my destination. I landed at Topsham Saturday evening, unannounced, taking my sister and her family, to whom I was making my first visit, entirely by surprise. To say that I received a hearty welcome would express it but slightly. Never having seen my brother in-law and his children before, I had expected the stateliness and formality which we attribute to New England people. But, I am sure, more cordiality and warm heartedness in our good west ern people can not be found than I meet here among these Maine people. My brother-in-law is running the Franklin Family School of Topsham, in which I find young people even from our own state, and, as the name signifies, so much of a home is this school, that I can scarcely tell which are the pupils and which my own nieces and nephews.

I find Topsham quite a refined little town, prettily situated, with its hills and winding river. It is joined to Brunswick by a fine iron bridge. Brunswick is a town of about 6,000 inhabitants, here manufacturing is carried on to some extent, though, as is well known, Brunswick is specially noted as the seat of Bowdoin College. And I beg to say a word of my visit to this institution. The grounds are large and well kept, and the buildings numerous. The College Chapel is considered one of the finest in New England. In this building are the library and picture gallery, which are both very valuable.

I am very much interested in watching the rise and fall of the river. Sitting where I am, at the south window of my room, I can see that it is high tide, by an island which is now covered. At low tide this island can be seen distinctly from the house. To give a correct diary of my movements, we began the week by taking a drive to the seashore. This was my first near view of the salt water. My niece and I got out of the carriage and walked to the water's edge; I asked her if this water was really salt, and she said it was, but to make sure, I thought I would taste it, and without swallowing it I could vouchsafe that she was correct. Our next move was a two days' drive north, through as picturesque a country as I ever saw. But, as for farming, it seems to me that I should starve here. From several points of high land we could easily distinguish the White Mountains. One of the most interesting points of this journey was taking dinner with a family friend, whose father, a very learned man, graduated from the Bowdoin College in the class with Longfellow and Hawthorne. Our last trip was to the city of Bath, a pleasant drive of nine miles from Topsham. Bath is noted for its ship building; it contains the largest firm in the United States. In one yard I saw five large ships in different stages of construction, and also had a fine view of the Kennebec river. We returned by a different route, and crossed Merry Meeting Bay—so called on account of the meeting of the Kennebec and Androscoggin rivers.

Now then, Messrs. Editors, I have given you a few lines from my note book which I feel but poorly express all the pleasure and benefit I am experiencing from this eastern trip.

Yours, truly,
R. M. MACHAN.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find in only thee, Oh Jealousy, thy tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, he villian of the tragedy played among the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the latter, and when indigestion is removed this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. TARAXINE is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

TELEGRAPHIC

WASHINGTON.

Condition of the Cabinet Question.

Folger Said to be the Coming Man for the Treasury

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The President is now known to have acted in good faith in sending in Governor Morgan's name in the face of the latter's positive declination. The governor had estimated that if he was to be too much hampered by the routine duties of the office which would be very trying to one of his years, he would accept if only for a time in order to show his appreciation of his personal friend (the President). It was the opening in the declination that led the Pr[illegible]ope and believe that Morga[illegible]ccept were he formally nominated and confirmed. Mrs. Morgan, however, protested against a step which involved her husband's health, and called to her aid the family physician, who certified over his official signature that Mrs. Morgan was perfectly correct, and that it would never do for the governor to accept such a trying place at his time of life and in his state of health. Upon this there was no other way open but for him to decline, which he then did in unequivocal terms. His letter was sent to Mr. Arthur by special messenger, who arrived there this morning. The information was telegraphed the President last night, and the unexpected result left the President in a somewhat embarrassing position. It is said he was quite willing this morning to let the whole subject of the cabinet go over until December, if it could be so arranged. This was discussed in a conference this morning with Simon Cameron and other friends, but the conclusion arrived at was that the treasury should be filled immediately, and that Judge Folger should be sent in tomorrow. There are some wise ones who are casting about for a reason why Judge Folger should surrender his present high office, which has yet a decade to run, and accept a place which will probably leave him out in the cold at the end of three years. This is answered by the assertion that Judge Folger will be taken care of by President Arthur before his time has expired, by the appointment to the supreme bench vice Hunt, who will be out of the way within a couple of years.

As to ex Senator Howe and the attorney generalship, it is stated that the opposition to that gentleman has become so great that he has been rubbed off the slate, and the name of Boutwell substituted. The prevailing belief is, however, that the department of justice will go without a regular head until December, and that Mr. Phillips will be empowered to act on ten day stretches, should Mr. MacVeagh refuse to accede to the President's request to remain that time.

It is positively stated to night that Chief Justice Folger, of New York, has been tendered and has accepted the appointment of secretary of the treasury, and that to morrow his name will be sent to the senate. In connection with this appointment it is asserted Folger agreed to accept on condition, or understanding, that he shall be appointed to the United States Supreme Bench, to succeed Hunt, who, it is confidently believed, will be retired by congress on account of physical disability. Folger did not really want the secretaryship, but is ambitious to go upon the Supreme Bench. It is still asserted by those who assume to know that Conkling will succeed Folger before Arthur's administration grows very old. It is said Conkling would have been named, but that since he left the senate he has taken several very important law cases, and has accepted some thousands of dollars in the shape of retainers from his clients, and therefore he can not abandon these cases. President Arthur is very anxious, so the story goes, to have Conkling at the head of the treasury, and his great embarrassment since Morgan declined has been to find some one who would make way for Conking when he got ready to enter the cabinet. Folger's retirement from the Chief Justiceship of the New York Court of Appeals will necessitate the election of a successor, and the Democrats may win the election, and thus get a majority of that court. This is one reason of some hesitation in appointing Folger, but after looking over the field, it appears the President concluded that he was the man wanted. The belief that Conkling is ultimately destined for the treasury seems to be almost universal here, and if he were at liberty to accept it is believed the president would have appointed him. Ex Secretary (now Senator) Windom informed a Western Associated Press Agent to-night, positively, that Folger had been offered and had formally accepted the treasury, and that the president will nominate him to-morrow. It now appears that Thurlow Weed worked the Morgan boom, and was largely instrumental in getting Morgan appointed, believing that he could persuade him to accept.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Senators are getting impatient at the prolongation of the senate, and some of them criticise the president for not making up his mind as to what he wants done. In executive session to-day, one senator made a motion to adjourn to day sine die, but he was induced to withdraw it. This motion provoked some informal discussion, during which criticism of the President for seeming indecision was indulged in by several.

It was announced that the President had assured the senators to-day that he would not hold them here longer than Friday evening.

Judge Lawrence, first comptroller of the treasury, has decided that witnesses for Guiteau living more than 100 miles outside of the jurisdiction of the court (District of Columbia) cannot be paid by the government. Inside that radius their expenses can be paid.

Assistant Secretary French received from President Arthur this morning his appointment as acting secretary of the treasury.

The nomination of Stratham, Mahone's friend, for postmaster at Lynchburg, Va., is still pending before the post office committee. The Democrats, under the lead of Senator Johnston, are determined to fight Stratham, and to defeat him if possible. They are trying to prevent the case being reported back from the committee. Mahone has returned here specially to watch this case. Wilson, whom Stratham is nominated to succeed, is a Republican, and was severely wounded in the Union service during the rebellion.

Watmeug's appointment as paymaster general of the navy, opens up a sharp fight between the rivals for the nomination. Stevenson, who wanted the place, leads the fight against Watmeugs, but as the latter was senior paymaster, he was entitled to the promotion, and will be confirmed. President Arthur, in the appointment of Seaton for superintendent of the census, and now of Watmeug, both being in the regular line of promotion, shows a disposition to enforce the policy of civil service reform, without making any fuss over it.

First Assistant Postmaster General Tyner has resigned. So it is announced at the post office department to-day. This indicates that he has given up his fight.

General Tyner has prepared a statement which will be given to the press to-night. It merely denies the truth of the charges that he has been in sympathy with the star route contractors, or hostile to their prosecution. He says he was extremely cautious while in charge of the contract office, and never made an expenditure for the star-route service without first consulting the then postmaster general, Governor Jewell, and later, when in charge of the department, he refused to make a large increase in the service. He required of General Brady monthly statements regarding the star-route service, and never sanctioned large expenditures. During the last month he was postmaster general, no report came to him, and after he had ceased to be postmaster general, he had been informed that during that month Brady had largely expedited the service. He went at once to General Key, who had just assumed charge of the department, and told him of it, and advised him to cancel all orders for increased service. Tyner says further that the star-route prosecutions were frequently a matter of consultation between himself and President Garfield; that he took his report of the investigation made by himself into service, and read it to General Garfield, who requested that he might show it to General James, which he did. This was soon after Garfield became president.

The French guests visited the state department this afternoon, and afterwards called upon President Arthur.

A brief session of the cabinet was held to-day.

Representative John B. Clark, of Missouri, caused papers to be served upon his wife to-day, notifying her that he had instituted proceedings for divorce in the circuit court of Howard county, Missouri.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 26.—The Von Steubens will be occupied with the reception here to-morrow. The citizens will meet them early in the morning at Loveland and give a reception during the day at the Highland house. The Queen City club will give an exclusive reception and supper in the evening, and the German singing societies contemplate serenading them at the club in the evening.

NEW HAVEN, MASS., October 25.—Blanche Douglas was arraigned this morning on the charge of murdering Jennie Cramer on August 5, by inducing her to take arsenic. She was not called upon to plead, but sent back to jail to await a hearing.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Lawyer Trude, of this city, who will assist in the defense of Guiteau, said to an Inter Ocean reporter to night that he would advance the plea of insanity, as he believed the man to be insane. He cared nothing about Guiteau, but he was a lover of law.

FARMERS should be informed of the real actual value of improved stock. A difference in the yield of milk of four quarts a day, even at two cents a quart, is equal of $24 a year, which is the interest at 6 per cent. on $400. A difference of 100 pounds of butter in a year isequal to the same amount. With ten cows, this counts up pretty fast. A pure bred Ayrshire or Jersey cow will easily make this difference in the value of the yearly product; as there is no extra cost for the keeping, the increase is all profit.—Rural New Yorker.

"THERE is a highly mitigating circumstance in my case," said Charles Leslie, when about to be sentenced for obtaining money under false pretenses at Rushville, Ind. He had resorted to the crime in order to keep his engagement of marriage, and he thought that course was better, he explained, than to render himself liable for a breach of promise. He was a gentleman, he hoped, and he knew how to treat a lady. Still the judge was inexorable, and sent him to the penitentiary for six months.

THE Cincinnati Commercial prints a letter from Gen. J. D. Cox, of Ohio, to the effect that, while President Garfield "felt averse to inviting into his cabinet men who would be simply the representatives of other leading men outside of it," he would have been disposed to invite Mr. Conkling into the cabinet on the same principle that he did invite Mr. Blaine, if he had been assured that such an invitation would have been well received. If this is true, would not the point of criticism be broken if President Arthur should do what his predecessor contemplated, or was disposed to do?

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask or it the attention of our readers: He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone that at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the last three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that everyone afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take DR. WM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared and I shall soon be able to go to work. Sold by all druggists. 23d&wly-1

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when SCOVILL'S BLOOD and LIVER SYRUP will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It is indeed a strengthening syrup, pleasant to take, and has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing Scrofula, Syphilitic disorders, Weakness of the Kidneys, all Nervous disorders and Debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that human flesh is heir to. A single bottle will prove to you its merits as a health renewer, for it acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

WHY is it that Decatur has not a lecture association, with a membership of from one hundred to three or four hundred? B. STINE, the affable clothier north side of the old square, is not disposed to slumber and sleep in this wide-awake age of go-aheadativeness, as witness the addition to his business house of seventy-five feet, making a total of one hundred and fifty feet in length by twenty-two feet in width, one of the most commodious and well furnished clothing houses in the city. A spiral and elegant stairway connects the upstairs with the lower floor, affording ample room for the proper handling of his immense stock of clothing and gent's furnishing goods. Mr. Stine claims three reasons for his remarkable success in supplying the wants of the public in his line: 1st.—They carry the largest stock of ready-made clothing. 2d.—They sell them for less money than any other house in Decatur, and as low as they can be bought in the United States. 3d—They guarantee every article they sell or refund the money.

THE "JOLLITIES" appear at the opera house on Tuesday evening, Nov. 1. The Boston Globe says of this company: "There was not a vacant seat at the cosy Gaiety last evening. Why? Simply from the fact that Manager Wentworth, who knows just what a Boston audience requires, gave one of the best performances that has graced his theatre this season. If good acting, splendid singing, bright and witty dialogue, with a capital orchestra, deserve to be called first-class, then a faint idea may be conceived of the excellencies of the "Jollities" in their 'Electrical Doll.'"

THE celebrated Union depot pond is no more. The workmen on the Illinois Central put down tile yesterday, draining it north of the W., St. L. & P. One of the sons of Hibernia when asked if they found any fish upon the retirement of the water, exclaimed with characteristic sprightliness: "No, be jabers, the whisky killed 'em all." Now let the basin be filled up and this eye-sore to Decatur and the traveling public will be wholly removed.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are small and easy to take as sugar. One pill a dose, price 25 cents. For sale by Hubbard & Swearingen. 26

Free Lecture.

Decatur people have reason to be thankful to the Board of Health during the year that is passing for their very efficient efforts in the management of the small-pox cases in the city. Had it not been for the promptness with which they dealt with the four or five cases here our city might have been placed in a state of quarantine and all our interests thereby have suffered.

Apropos of this subject of vital interest to every man, woman and child in the city, we are happy to announce that sometime during next week the very able President of the State Board of Health, Dr. J. M. Gregory, formerly Regent of the Industrial University, will give a free lecture.

Dr Gregory is one of the very ablest and most entertaining speakers in Central Illinois, whose mind is well stored with both scientific and general information. A cultured gentleman who needs only to be heard to be appreciated. He has spoken on various topics in our city, and those who have ever heard him will need no urging to attend this lecture. His travel throughout Europe, his technical knowledge upon such a variety of subjects, his pleasing address and general bon hommie, render him a very attractive speaker. Let there be a rousing audience to greet him, testifying not only appreciation of his many acquirements, interest on this most important question of regulation of the city's hygenic condition, but a general feeling of sympathy towards all reform.

Change of Venue.

The case of The People vs. Fred Aholtz came up to-day before Justice Curtis, and a change of venue was taken to Justice McGorray. The matter in dispute is some corn to the amount of about twenty dollars said to have been wrongfully in the possession of Mr. Aholtz. The matter will have a full investigation before the latter Justice, and the truth will then be known.

Distinguished Visitors.

Dr. R. F. Carriel, superintendent of the Insane hospital at Jacksonville, and Dr. P. G. Gillette, superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb institution at the same place, came in on the noon train to-day, for the purpose of investigating our gravel banks. They are on the lookout for a considerable quantity of gravel, to be used in the construction of a filter for the state institutions at Jacksonville.

Improved Mode of Moving Houses.

Dick Roberts says he has quit moving houses by the old horse plan, and calls into requisition steam power. The old watch house at the north end of the bridge on the Illinois Central, was picked up, put on a flat car, and brought up to the open space opposite the Decatur furniture factory, east of the railroad, to be used as a section house.

Building Notes.

Ex-Mayor Chambers' new residence is rapidly approaching completion.

Mr. John Ryan is erecting a neat one-story cottage on the south half of his lot on South Broadway, between Wood and Clay streets.

The workmen are pushing the big addition to Priest & Co.'s mill, and the walls will soon begin to loom up.

The frame of Hon. A. T. Hill's new residence, corner of Prairie and Church streets, is now up, and the building will be enclosed before cold weather sets in.

Mr. J. E. Hering has removed the building from the old Wingate lot on West William street to a good lot on the south side of West North street, and is putting it in shape for occupancy. Mr. H. will probably build on the Wingate lot next season.

Aleck Nebinger's new house on West North street, is all enclosed and will be finished this fall. It will not only be a very comfortable but a very handsome residence.

John Swearingen's new brick block on the corner of Eldorado and Morgan streets, will be ready for occupants in a few weeks.

George D. Haworth's fine residence, on the corner of Eldorado and Jackson sts., will be when finished another ornament to that neighborhood of fine dwellings.

Hon. John K. Warren's new house, on West Decatur street, is almost finished, and Mr. Warren expects to move in before many days elapse.

Maggie Mitchell.

The opera house last night was filled to overflowing with a most brilliant and appreciative audience to pay homage to the charming star and her excellent support, in the emotional drama entitled "The Pearl of Savoy." The play was decidedly Frenchy—in the better sense—being a commingling in due proportions of light and shadow. Miss Mitchell's role was sustained with faultless ability, once or twice receiving a hearty encore. L. R. Shewell as Lonstalot, sustained the character assigned to him with a naturalness hinging upon perfection itself. Taking nature as the standard it is difficult to see wherein he could have improved upon the strong, passionate man represented. Julian Mitchell, as Pierrot, could hardly have been excelled, unless, perhaps, when representing the stupefied friend of Marie he had suffered himself to appear a little drunker than he seemed. Probably he did not have the necessary wherewithal, as he afterwards did when under the table. W. H. Burton, as the Commander, could not have been improved upon. Rufus Scott, as Arthur, played the ardent lover with most becoming grace and taste. Mrs. Vanderen, as the Marchioness, was the very personification of the high-bred French woman. In a word the support was able, the whole play charming in its rendition, the costumes new and elaborate, and, from the manifestations of approval throughout, the audience was delighted. The company may expect a like generous reception when again visiting our city.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Hon. Jason Rogers took the Illinois Central train yesterday for Chebanse.

Supervsor W. A. Vanleer, of Friends Creek township, is in the city to day.

B. K. Durfee went yesterday to Chicago.

Mrs. Geo. Downing, residing on North Main street, is dangerously ill with typhoid fever.

Mrs. McCarty took the W., St. L. & P. train yesterday evening for Litchfield, to be gone a few days.

W. H. Swearingen returned from a visit to Ohio yesterday. He had a very pleasant trip.

H. Crea, Esq., came in last night from Petersburg, Menard county.

A. W. Scott and wife, of Bethany, Ill. were in the city to-day.

We regret to learn that Mrs. Clara Dudley, who has been ill for nearly three months, is very low to-day, and her condition causes the gravest alarm

H. B. Montgomery, in the interest of Pettingill & Co., of Peoria, Ill., wholesale dealers in boots and shoes, came in this morning on the P. D. & E.

I. R. Mills, of Mills Bros., attorneys at law, is up in Putnam county, attending circuit court. He will probably return the middle of next week.

Aten Lytle, after his five weeks tussle with the typhoid fever, is again able to be about, and hopes soon to be ready to resume his place in the post office.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Sargent, formerly residing on William street, will be glad to see their friends at their new home on East Eldorado street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Glover, Esq., of Helmick, Ohio, and Miss Louisa Glover, of Worthington, Ind., are here on a visit, guests of Mr. G.'s son-in-law, H. B. Lewis.

F. B. Tait, who has been having quite a serious time in the last week, being threatened with typhoid fever, is somewhat better to-day. We hope Felix will soon be up and about again.

Mr. J. F. Roach and Miss Sophia Halleck left the city yesterday evening to attend the wedding, this morning, at the residence of the bride's parents near Mt. Zion, of Mr. E. O. Humphrey and Miss Minerva Smith.

John Thomas, who has been absent in Kansas for nearly three years, has returned and taken possession of the old Thomas House, on East Main street, where he will be glad to see his old friends and customers.

George Lyons, residing on West Eldorado street, is making preparations for starting a chair factory on a small scale in the rear of his residence lot. Everything must have a beginning. "Tall oaks from little acorns grow; Large streams from little fountains flow."

Thomas Morris, one of the old settlers of Macon county, residing on East William street, is now lying at the point of death. But little hope is entertained of his recovery. He has been confined to his bed since the 11th of September.

Since the above was in type we learn that Mr. Morris died about noon. The time of the funeral will be announced to-morrow.

A Surprise.

A correspondent from Argenta gives us a detailed account of a happy celebration of the birthday of Mrs. Chas. Towers, of that village. Mr J. H Towers, son of the pleased recipient, and her son-in-law, Mr. H. Fesler, and a few invited friends and neighbors stole in upon the lady just in time to prevent her leaving on a visit, whereupon all that delights the palate was temptingly spread upon the table and a joyous feast was indulged in, rendered more delectable by the sprightly repartee and converse of the merry intruders After which entrancing strains of music, vocal and instrumental, rendered by Misses Eliza Lindsay, of Missouri; Edna Welton, of Argenta; and Mr. Chas. Fesler, thrilled the company, as was manifested by their generous applause. To cap the climax and render the affair complete, the Nichols' Cornet Band treated the company to several appropriate selections, which were responded to by an invitation to partake of refreshments. Altogether it was one of the pleasantest affairs Argenta has known for many a day.

ASTHMA Quickly and Permanently CURED
Dr Hiscox's Asthma Remedy is recommended as a positive Alterative and Cure for Asthma and Dyspepsia, and all their attendant evils. It does not merely afford temporary relief, but is a permanent cure. Mrs. E. F. Lee, of Belmore, O., says of it: "I am surprised at the speedy effects of your remedy. It is the first medicine in six years that has loosened my cough and made expectoration easy. I slept all night without coughing." If your druggist does not keep it, send for treatise and testimonials to H. F. E. PERK & CO., 253 Broadway, New York.

THE story that Gambetta poked out one of his own eyes when a child, because his father would not permit him to do as he pleased, is perfectly true. What is not so generally known is that the elder Gambetta remained inflexible even after this appalling display of willfulness. The boy was being educated at the Lycee of Cahors, and, conceiving a dislike to the institution, asked to be removed from it. His father refused again and again. At last Leon said: "I'll put out one of my eyes if you send me back to the Lycee." It was holiday time. "As you please," said the father, to whom it seems never to have occurred that his boy might have inherited his own strength of purpose. The same day Leon took, not a penknife, as the popular tradition has it, but an ink-stand, which he dashed with such violence against the eye as to destroy it. Shocked as was old Gabetta, he would not give in; and Leon returned to the Lycee.

LAND of the free: "You boast that your country is the land of liberty," said a young English nobleman, who had married an American lady, to a Yankee traveler at a London chop-house. "You call it the 'one of freedom, and all that, but it's a beastly fact that I never lost my independence till I went there."
